WOMAN BEATS OFF HIGHWAYMAN WITH HEAVY MESH BAG

Saves Receipts of Dance and Valuable Jewelry From Man Who Trailed Her.

MAN ALSO ATTACKED.

Two Hold-Ups and One Burglary Occur in Williamsburg Section.

The highwaymen and burglars who have been terrorizing Williamsburg for the past few months were at it again this morning. Within a radius of threequanters of a mile, though in two separate precincts, a woman was held up and brutally beaten by a footpad, whom she fought off before she gave way to blackinck and relieved of $55, and a restaurant was looted immediately across the street from the second

The woman who fought the highwayman off is Mrs. Annie Emich, wife of a musician, living at No. 126 Coverstreet. Last night the Amphion Bowl ing Club, a woman's organization. which she is president, gave its annual dance, and Mrs. Emich attended is while her husband was filling a pr fessional engagement in Manhattan At 2.30 o'clock this morning the danbroke up, and Mrs. Emich joined a party of unescorted women who board-ed a Broadway car for home. Mcs. $500, a pair of earrings valued at $300 and in a mesh bag she carried $100. part of the profits of the dance, which had been turned over to her for safe-

Mysterious Guest Follows.

At Halsey street, Mrs. Emich and another woman transferred to a Haisey street car. Mrs. Emich noticed that a man who had attended the dance, and whom no one seemed to know, also ewong aboard the Halsey sar. She left the car at Evergreen avenue to make a short cut for her home. The man got off the car at the same time. Thoroughly frightened, Mrs. Emich started to run. As she turned the corner of Covert avenue the man seized her the throat and struck her across the Tace, cutting her nose. At the same nime he pressed her fingers against her throat, and with the other hand tried to tear off the brooch. Mrs. Emich prevented him from choking her and struck him across the face again and again with her mesh bag. Her screams aroused the neighborhood, and as soon as the highway man heard the sound o footsteps he fled. A dozen men came up a minute later, but the footpad had made good his excape. In all this time no policeman was visible.

Search for Blond Bandit.

After Mrs. Emich was taken home the case was reported to the Hamburg enue station and Detectives O'Connor and Patten were detailed to find the tall, well built, well dressed blond man vited. Mrs. Emich was attended by her At the same time that Mrs. Emic was held up highwaymen succeeded in getting $55 away from Louis Bersully, a produce dealer, who lives at No. 25 igel street and has his market at No
